

Philosophy World Democracy

STYLE GUIDE

The submissions should address the concerns articulated in the concept. Preferably they should not exceed 4000 words, but longer essays can also be considered).

Philosophy World Democracy is a multilingual journal – it solicits articles in all languages. Should you wish to submit an essay in a language that is not spoken by one of our editors or editorial board members, we will explore the possibility.

Citing Sources

Please use double quotation marks: either “” (for English); or „“ (for German); or « » (for French). For quotes within a quoted text, use single quotation marks: ‘ ’ (for English); or ‚ ‚ (for German); or < > (for French).

Quotations longer than 50 words should be indented and written in 10 pitch. They should be preceded and followed by an empty line.

Please put all your references in endnotes. Endnotes contain sources, extra clarifications or details that cannot be included in the main text. They should be used with restraint. Endnotes include the name(s) of the author(s), abbreviated title and a page reference.

Additionally, references must appear at the end of the paper in a Works Cited list. This list should provide full bibliographic information on every text quoted or discussed.

Do not include in the Works Cited any items not mentioned or quoted in the text.

The titles by the same author should be ordered alphabetically.

Works Cited list – Examples:

Books:

Last name, First name. Title of Book. Place of Publication: Publisher, Year of Publication.

Articles in volumes:

Last name, First name. "Title of article." Title of volume. Editor. Place of publication: Publisher, Year. Pages.

Articles in journals:

Last name, First name. "Title of Article." Title of Journal Volume number. Issue Number (Year): Pages.

Numbers should be expressed in figures ("21st century").

Use italics for titles of literary and philosophical works, edited volumes and journals, also for emphasis. Titles of short stories and articles should be between quotation marks.

Please do not use underline or CAPITALS.
